Sustainability as an investment strategy

Hamish Chamberlayne will discuss why a global investment strategy based on sustainability could add value to investor portfolios while also providing diversification benefits. With powerful environmental and social megatrends pressuring the global economy, investing through a lens of sustainability has the potential to protect portfolios from disruption and lead to better investment outcomes.

Janus Henderson Investors

Janus Henderson Investors exists to help clients achieve their long-term financial goals. Formed in 2017 from the merger between Janus Capital Group and Henderson Global Investors, Janus Henderson is committed to adding value through active management. For us, active is more than our investment approach – it is the way we translate ideas into action, how we communicate our views and the partnerships we build in order to create the best outcomes for clients. As a leading global manager, we offer actively managed solutions to meet diverse investment goals and seek to deliver exceptional service to our clients.

Hamish Chamberlayne, CFA

Hamish Chamberlayne is Head of SRI at Janus Henderson Investors. He is also Portfolio Manager of the Janus Henderson Global Sustainable Equity and Institutional Global Responsible Managed strategies, a role he has had since 2012.
