

BMO Global Asset
Management

Making the Difference – Engagement in Emerging Markets

Allocating capital sustainably comes with great responsibility – nowhere is that more clear than in Emerging Markets. They demand a deeper understanding of the environmental and social impacts our investments have in the societies they are deployed in. Active Engagement on ESG issues makes all the difference – learn how this works and how it benefits returns, especially as long-term investors. Christopher Darling, Portfolio Manager, will share experiences and examples from over a decade of Engagement with companies in complex Emerging Markets such as China and India.

Christopher Darling

Christopher is the lead Portfolio Manager for LGM's Asia strategy and Co-Portfolio Manager for LGM's Greater China and Responsible Asia strategies. He has over thirty-four years' industry experience. Christopher joined LGM in Hong Kong in 2006 – where he was a portfolio manager, Director of Asian Research and later CIO (Asia) – before relocating to LGM's London office in 2015. Christopher is a graduate of University College London and the London School of Economics.

Kontakt: Rochus Appert
Tel.: +41 44 488 19 51
E-Mail: rochus.appert@bmogam.com
Website: www.bmo.com